SAYS "DRY" BEER IS INTOXICATING

Chemist Testified Beverage in All But Three Cases Contained 3 to 5 Per Cent Alcohol.

OTHER WAS ONLY .35 PER CENT

Judge Hears the Evidence in Eleven Search Warrant Cases—Will Return Decision Later.

The eleven cases against as many former "dry" beer parlor owners on the search warrants sworn out by the city marshal, Jesse Harlow, were up in the circuit court today and the evidence was all heard. They were taken under advisement by Judge Will Sparks, who will return his decision later.

The suits were all taken up in regular order, the testimony of the assistant State chemist, Macabee, being used in every instance. Samples taken from the goods in the basement of the jail, which were used by the chemist in making his examination, were used as evidence. The chief witnesses were the chemist, Sheriff Clata Bebout, City Marshal Jesse Harlow and Policeman Wolters, all of whom assisted in the raid on March 9, when over five thousand pints of drinks were confiscated by the police and stored in the basement of the jail.

Each search warrant case was taken up in its order and the officers called to the stand to testify how much goods they captured from the place and identify the sample bottle which was taken from that particular place. After the bottle had been identified, it was handed to the chemist who gave the contents of the bottle as he found it in an analysis.

The evidence proved conclusively that the supposed "dry" beer found in all of the places with three exceptions contained from three to five per cent alcohol. Such was the testimony of the expert chemist of Indianapolis. He also said on the stand that any of the beverage which contained that much alcohol was intoxicating.

The "dry" beer found in the places operated by Frank Porter, August Roth and Marion E. Willis, who runs a grocery store in West Seventh street, was found to contain only .35 per cent alcohol, which beverage the chemist testified was not intoxicating. However, some wine was found at the Porter parlor, which, as was sworn to on the stand, was intoxicating.

The chemist testified that the five cases of beverage found at the home of Frank Porter in West Fourth street was pure beer. Mr. Porter was called to the stand immediately after dinner and testified that he had kept the beer in the house for his own use and that he purchased two of the cases for his daughter upon the advice of physicians.

In making the plea for the State before the court, Deputy Prosecutor Morgan pointed out that, according to the revised statutes, the law on that subject stated that it was illegal to sell any malt or vinous liquor. He said that the chemist on the stand had testified that any beverage containing any portion of alcohol was a malt liquor. The deputy prosecutor said that the chemist had stated that some of the liquor found was not intoxicating, but still was malt. He explained that the law made no allowance for the intoxication clause and based on the one subject as to whether or not it was malt liquor. He said that the cases were all civil suits and that the penalty was destruction.

John Joyce appeared for several of the defendants, cross examining the witnesses in many instances. Attorney John H. Kiplinger and B. F. Miller assisted the State in the prosecution.

INJURED WHILE LASSOING MULE

FATHER IS CALLED FROM HERE

William Dagler went to Richmond this morning, where he was called on account of an injury to his son, Charley, who suffered a broken leg yesterday while working with a fractious mule. Mr. Dagler was attempting to lasso a wild mule in the barn lot, when the accident occurred. The lasso caught around the legs of the animal and it jumped, throwing Dagler over against a post and caused the injury. The fracture is a very severe one and will probably keep the victim confined to his home for a few weeks. Mr. Dagler says that as long as he and his sons have worked with horses, no one of them ever received a broken bone before.

DIED NOT KNOWING HER OWN PARENTS

Miss Blanche Lucy, an Orphan, Expired at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson.

DEATH DUE TO TUBERCULOSIS

Miss Blanche Lucy, who was better known as Miss Marie Gibson, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson in Arlington last night about six o'clock of tuberculosis. She had been in very poor health and her death was not unexpected. Miss Lucy was nine years old and an orphan. She never knew her parents and was taken from the State Board of Charities to raise a few years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Gibson. She had not lived with Mr. and Mrs. Gibson all that time, but had been transferred to several families and one orphan's home. She was brought back to the Gibson home three months ago, where she died. The funeral services will be held at the Gibson home in Arlington tonight at 7:30 o'clock and the body will be shipped to Westport for burial.

BARN WAS BURNED.

The barn on the Frank Mull farm near Manilla which was struck by lightning Sunday afternoon, afterwards fired and was burned to the ground. All of the live stock was saved, but a large quantity of hay and a number of valuable farm implements were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $2000.

STREET PAVING ACTION REFUSED

Main and Second Petitions to Improve Under 3 Mile Law Sent Back to Commissioners.

MANY LEGAL STEPS TAKEN

Board Will Probably Consider Matter at Adjourned Session to be Held Saturday.

The two petitions to improve Main and Second streets under the three-mile gravel road law were taken out of the circuit court yesterday and sent back to the board of county commissioners. When the matter was broached by County Attorney John A. Tittsworth, the commissioners refused to take the subject for consideration. It was late in the afternoon before the matter was brought up and it is very probable that it will be considered at the adjourned meeting of the commissioners next Saturday.

The first step in the legal proceedings yesterday by which the case was sent back to the commissioners, was a partial compromise in which it was agreed between the attorneys for the petitioners and the remonstrators that the case should go back. The Main street case is styled as the case of Arthur B. Irvin et al. vs. Fred Capp et al. It was appealed to the circuit court after the commissioners ruled against the petitioners. In the circuit court Special Judge Hannah of Indianapolis found for the remonstrators on the ground that the clause "and other material" did not include brick and that the law was meant only to improve country highways.

Yesterday morning the petitioners filed a petition, asking that the court review the decision in the case and the defendants withdrew their motion to dismiss the appeal. They also withdrew their motion to dismiss the petition and the report of the viewers and the answer and written objections to the report of the viewers and the petition. The decision was reviewed by the court as prayed by the petitioners and the cause was ordered remanded back to the commissioners with instructions to the board to proceed with the building of the highway as per decree filed by the attorneys for the petitioners, Megee & Kiplinger.

The Second street paving case is styled in re petition of Owen L. Carr et al. to improve a highway. The Second street suit had not progressed so far in the courts as the other one. It had been sent to the circuit court from the commissioners' court and argued by the attorneys and a decision from Judge Will Sparks was pending. Practically the same steps were taken in the Second street case as in the Main street case. The petitioners withdrew their motion to dismiss the petition and the report of the viewers and also their answer and written objections to the report of the viewers and the petition. The cause was ordered remanded back to the commissioners by the court in the same manner with the instructions to proceed with the building of the highway.

LOVES HIM MORE THAN HER SOUL

So Mrs. Musa Newsom Writes to Her Affinity, Long, According to Divorce Complaint.

FILED BY HUSBAND, A. NEWSOM

Letter Was Sent on Day That Proceeding Was Dismissed After Trouble Stopped.

Charging that his wife wrote a letter to her affinity that she loved him better than she did her husband, whom she despised, Alva A. Newsom, a prominent farmer of Posey township, filed suit for divorce against his wife, Musa Newsom, in the circuit court today through his attorneys, Megee & Kiplinger. The suit is only the outgrowth of another divorce proceeding which was filed by the same man against his wife during last court vacation. After the filing of the complaint, the differences were made up and Mr. and Mrs. Newsom lived together once more. The plaintiff dismissed the suit at his costs at the opening of this term of court.

But on the day that he dismissed the suit, Newsom learned that his wife had again written an epistle to her affinity, Marshall Long, a paper hanger of Arlington, and trouble began once more. According to the complaint Newsom says that she told Long in the letter that she loved him better than her own soul, that she did not love her husband, but rather despised him.

The complaint filed today says that Mr. and Mrs. Newsom were married October 13, 1893, and that they lived together as man and wife until yesterday, when they separated. The plaintiff charges the defendant with cruel and inhuman treatment. He says in the complaint that his wife has met Long on the streets in Arlington and had also met him by appointment and had taken buggy rides with him.

Newsom avers in the complaint that he had remonstrated with her not to act in such a manner, but that she continued even after his remonstrances. He says that she further said in her letter to Long that she intended to leave her husband and would not live with him longer.

The complaint says that one child was born to Mr. and Mrs. Newsom, a fifteen-year-old girl, Freda. The plaintiff asks for the custody of his daughter, averring that his wife is not a fit person to have the care of her own daughter. Aside from that he prays the court for a complete divorce, costs and all other proper relief. Mr. and Mrs. Newsom are prominent people of Posey township. Mr. Newsom is a very successful farmer.

All of the school enumeration reports were turned in with the exception of Rushville township and city and will be published tomorrow.

HAND AMPUTATED: CAUSED BY BURN

John French Underwent Severe Operation this Morning, Due to Recent Accident.

INJURED IN A PECULIAR WAY.

The left hand of John French, living in West Second street, was amputated this morning, the operation being necessary on account of a bad burn which he received a few weeks ago. It was thought at the time the operation would be necessary, as the burn was of such a serious nature that all of the flesh fell off.

It will be remembered Mr. French received his injury in a very peculiar manner. He is subject to unconscious spells due to a growth on his brain, for which he underwent an operation recently, but no good was accomplished. It is supposed that he fell into subconscious state at the time, his hand falling in the open radiator. When his family returned home, they found his left hand badly burned although he did not seem to feel the pain. He withstood the operation well.

MORRIS ENJOYS GREAT SUCCESS

Former Local Young Man Makes a Profound Impression in Recital in New York City.

CONNECTED WITH BRUNO HUHN

Carl Morris, barytone, formerly of this city, is meeting with success in singing in New York, says the Indianapolis News. Thursday he sang at Sherry's in a recital with Miss Amy Baker, and Bruno Huhn, the composer, was at the piano. The New York Telegram said of the recital: "Mr. Morris was heard to advantage in a varied program that included an aria from Massenet's 'Herodiade,' a group of interesting songs by Bruno Huhn, of which a dramatic setting of Henley's 'Invictus' made a profound impression and concluded with a group of modern songs which fully revealed the singer's excellent voice, his admirable method, and his evident sincerity and power." Tonight Mr. Morris will sing in "Elijah" at Meriden, Conn. May 12 he will give a recital for Senator Clark in his new home in Fifth avenue and May 10, one for Mrs. Clarence Mackay.

THE WEATHER

Fair tonight. Cooler in central and south portion with frost, heavy in north portion. Wednesday fair.

CANDIDATES ARE NOT NUMEROUS

Judge Sparks, Only Candidate For Nomination, at Judicial Convention Here Tomorrow.

WILL BE MADE UNANIMOUS

Name of W. W. Israel of Shelbyville Has Been Mentioned For Prosecuting Attorney.

The Republican judicial convention for the Rush-Shelby district will be held in the court house assembly room tomorrow. The convention will be called to order at one o'clock in the afternoon, when a judge and prosecuting attorney will be chosen. There are sixteen delegates from this county and eighteen from Shelby county, making a total of thirty-four. Eighteen delegate votes will be necessary for a choice.

But from present indications there will be no necessity for a choice, as there is not a dearth of candidates. So far Will Sparks, the present circuit court judge, is the only candidate mentioned for the position. It is very probable that he will not meet with any opposition and that his nomination will be made unanimous.

Few candidates have been mentioned for the prosecuting attorney's nomination. The name of J. Oscar Hall of Shelbyville, a young attorney who was nominated by the Republicans two years ago and defeated by the Democratic candidate, has been bandied about considerably. His friends have attempted to push him out into the race, but it is authoritatively stated that he will not be a candidate before the convention. He has said himself that he will not seek the nomination this year.

The only other name mentioned for the position is that of W. W. Israel of Shelbyville, a popular attorney there. He has not definitely made his announcement, but it is understood that he looks at the nomination in a favorable light. He is a young attorney in Shelbyville, who has not been in politics much, but who is a very capable man. Local attorneys who know him say that he could well fill the position of prosecuting attorney.

There has been no opposition to Judge Sparks and it is highly probable that no other name will be placed in nomination before the convention. The work of the present judge has met with approval all over the two counties. His work has been of such a character that scarcely any criticism has been made. Both Democrats and Republicans alike concede that he is one of the best judges which ever graced the bench in Rush county. Local attorneys, irrespective of politics, are of one opinion in regard to his record, and say that he always acts with sincerity of purpose and the belief that he is following what the law teaches.

The attendance at the convention promises to be larger than what at first was predicted, although nothing is promised which might attract a large crowd. The Shelbyville papers say that several politicians, other than the delegates, are preparing to come.

TELEPHONE MEN BUSY.

The telephone men were busy most of yesterday and this morning making repairs to damaged phones caused by the severe electrical storm Sunday. An electric wire was burned in two by the lightning and one fell on a telephone wire, causing it to burn. As a result eight or ten telephones in the eastern part of the city were put out of commission.

The county clerk's office will be open tomorrow morning at six o'clock, as it is pension day.

CITY COUNCIL TONIGHT

Not Much of Importance to Come up at Regular Session.

The city council will meet in regular session in the city building tonight. Nothing of importance is expected to come up at the meeting. At the last meeting Howard Barrett was instructed to take steps to collect the city's money from the county treasurer, and he will probably have a report this evening.

WILL PUSH THE PROSECUTION

Young Rockefeller's Grand Jury
Going After White Slavers.

GOT SOME DIRECT EVIDENCE

With the Assistance of Government Agents, the Special Grand Jury of which John D. Rockefeller, jr., is Foreman, Has Returned Indictments Against Three Alleged Leaders of Detestable Traffic in the Great City.

New York, May 3.—The price paid in the New York "white slave" market for young girls was made public after the special grand jury in which J. D. Rockefeller, jr., is foreman had returned indictments against Belle Moore, a negro woman; Alec Anderson, a negro, and Harry Levinson, charging them with the sale for purposes of prostitution of four girls. It appeared that George A. Miller, a former government agent who worked for the Roosevelt congressional committee in 1907 in the investigation of immigration abuses and who is one of the secret agents employed by the district attorney, paid $40 for Ida Greenberg and Gussie Ehrlich, whom he procured from Harry Levinson, and $120 for Alice Milton and Belle Woods, two girls said to be under eighteen years old, whom he purchased from Belle Moore. Alec Anderson is said to have had part in the second transaction.

It was also intimated by the district attorney that the grand jury may be asked to indict the Moore woman and Anderson on a charge of kidnapping in connection with an eleven-year-old girl who was seen by the district attorney's agents in a flat said to have been run by the negro woman, but disappeared while negotiations were pending.

J. D. Rockefeller, jr., called the jury together again in order to hurry the consideration of the cases of the three prisoners. This was done at the instance of District Attorney Whitman, who is anxious to get the defendants to trial as quickly as possible in the hope that the testimony given will prove of value in a further investigation.

The three prisoners, who were in the Tombs in default of $15,000 bail each, were taken before Judge Crain later in the day and arraigned for pleading. By request of their counsel the prisoners were granted until Thursday to make their pleas.

When Assistant District Attorney James Bronson heard about the child, he ordered his agents to include her in the purchases of "white slaves" which they were planning to make. Arrangements were made to buy the child, supposedly for the purpose of placing her in a disorderly house in the west, but before the deal went through the district attorney's agents were told that the little girl had sprained her ankle and had been sent away. After learning of this phase of the case Judge Crain said he would fix bail at $25,000. None of the prisoners secured a bondsman and they were sent back to the Tombs.

The names of the two college women who are said to have assisted in securing the evidence on which the indictments were found, do not appear.

THEY RESENT IT

Danish Aristocracy Decry Attention to a Mere Private Citizen.

Copenhagen, May 3.—Colonel Roosevelt arrived here at 5 o'clock last evening with considerable agitation in his bosom. The colonel's baggage had gone astray.

Owing to the failure of his trunks to arrive on time, Colonel Roosevelt was compelled to wear a gray suit when he called on Prince Hans and Prince Waldemar. He appeared in the same garb at the dinner at the palace, but before it was over the errant trunks put in an appearance.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel also were forced to dine in their street gowns, but all were enabled to appear at the brilliant reception at the American legation in conventional evening attire. During the dinner the crown prince extended a welcome to Colonel Roosevelt, expressing regret at his father's absence from the country. Colonel Roosevelt replied briefly. He said that the prince's greeting at the station was all that could have been desired. It seems that the prince was both amused and delighted at the informal nature of the meeting between himself and the colonel at the railway station. The Danish court is noted for its formality, but the missing baggage seemed to press heavily on Roosevelt's mind.

Roosevelt seems to have established two records at the royal palace. The first was his dining there formally in a gray flannel suit, and the second consists in the fact that he is the only private citizen who ever put up there as a guest. To this has been added a guard of honor at the palace and the flying of the American flag. It is whispered about that some of the older aristocrats are not too well pleased with all this.

SENATE INSURGENTS CARRY THEIR POINT

They Compel Regulars to do
Their Bidding

Washington, May 3.—Yesterday afternoon the situation in regard to the administration railway bill in the senate reached a crisis and President Taft and the Republican leaders have been obliged to abandon two important features of the measure. The sections to be dropped overboard are Nos. 7 and 12, the former opening the way for traffic agreements between the roads, and the latter legalizing mergers in cases where one road owns at least 50 per cent of the stock of another road.

This decision was not reached by the senate leaders until they had got President Taft on the long-distance telephone at Pittsburgh and informed him of the seriousness of the situation. It is understood that they told the president plainly that it was doubtful if the organization could muster the votes to carry these sections of the bill. The president, it is said, told them that if the recommendations which he made were defeated by a combination of insurgents and Democrats the administration no longer could be held responsible for the form of the measure. Later the Republican leaders called representatives of the insurgents into conference and asked if they had any proposition to offer on which the two factions might get together. The insurgents declined to concede anything, contending that they would have the votes to carry the proposed Cummins amendment to the bill. It was after this that the leaders decided that Sections 7 and 12 would have to be stricken from the bill.

House Removes the Ban.

Washington, May 3.—The house has passed a bill making changes in the naturalization laws. Under court decisions Jews from certain countries, Syrians and Armenians have been denied the privilege of naturalization on the ground that they are Asiatics, who are debarred from qualifying as American citizens. This bill removes this bar from Jews, Armenians and Syrians.

Connersville May Musical Festival.

Flying Squadron to visit Rushville Friday, to Advertise Event.

The people of Rushville should know that the coming May Festival to be held in Connersville Wednesday evening, May 11th, Thursday afternoon and Thursday evening, May 12th, is to be one of the best musical events, from an artistic standpoint, held anywhere in the State of Indiana.

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, under the leadership of their wonderful new leader, Leopold Stokowski, will take part in all three of the concerts. The opening concert will be given by the Orchestra and Mrs. Dorothea North, who has just arrived in New York after two years' study in Germany. Mrs. North has a magnificent soprano voice and this will be practically her first appearance in this country, after her long study in Europe.

Thursday afternoon will probably be the most interesting programme of the three. W. Otto Meissner, who was formerly supervisor of music in the schools at Connersville, has had a year of study in Berlin and has composed a Festival Overture especially for this May Festival. Mr. Meissner has embodied in this Overture an ideal of the industrial interests. It is a novel subject and treated in a novel way. The performance of this Overture will be a source of a great deal of interest. Mr. Meissner will personally conduct the Overture.

Besides this, Connersville will have the honor and distinction of having the greatest living American composer conduct two of his own compositions at the afternoon concert on Thursday. The first will be his "Chinese Suite," second, "Scenes from Macbeth." This composer is Edgar Stillman-Kelley, under whom Mr. Meissner has been studying during the past year, and he will personally conduct the Orchestra in both of these numbers. This is a distinction that Chicago, New York or Boston would be proud of, and had it not been for Mr. Meissner we could not have had Mr. Kelley, and it will be a rare treat to see him conduct his own compositions.

Mr. Niels Hougard Nielson, the Danish tenor who will sing at the Cincinnati May Festival, will also sing an Aria from the Opera, Gioconda, at the afternoon concert, as well as take part in the Oratorio of "The Creation," Thursday evening. Besides this, in the afternoon, four hundred school children will sing "Into the World," one of the finest compositions ever composed for children's voices. This number will be accompanied by the full Orchestra.

On Thursday evening, the Oratorio of "The Creation" will be rendered, with all of the soloists, full Orchestra and a chorus of one hundred and fifty voices: so it will be seen that Connersville will make an effort this year that could only be approached by very few cities in the county, and all of the music loving people of Rushville should not fail to hear every concert of this Festival.

B. F. Miller has very kindly consented to arrange a meeting of your Ladies Musical and citizens, at the Assembly Room of the court house, Friday evening, May 6th, at which time a number of the citizens of Connersville will motor over to Rushville and meet your people socially and inform you fully of the details of the Festival, and have tickets so that your people can secure tickets at that particular time, with the assurance that our Ticket Committee will see to it that you have seats provided for the different performances you would want to attend. Mr. B. F. Miller will give you any additional information you might desire.

Glenwood.

Rev. Black preached as usual at the M. E. church Sabbath morning at 10:45 o'clock. His subject was faithfulness of the Christians, "Be Thou Faithful Unto Death." After the preaching service Mr. and Mrs. Black sang a very beautiful song, "Let me Lean Harder on Thee."

A gentleman who was writing an experience of the campaign "1860," wrote about a tall thin man who split rails on one of the wagons, but did not mention his name stating that he had forgotten his name. R. V. Runyan, of our town remembers the scene and was personally acquainted with the man who impersonated Mr. Lincoln so well. His name was Andrew Moffett.

A. P. Reynolds transacted business at Indianapolis one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Combs visited Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Combs of Oxford on Sabbath day.

May 15, will be hospital day with the M. E. S. S.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fulton entertained for dinner Sunday several of Mrs. Fulton's relatives from Union county.

Claude Batdorf transacted business here one day last week. He will make this vicinity every two weeks during the summer season.

The "Lawn Fete" spoken about in last week's Republican has been withdrawn on account of the fear that some one should be offended.

Louis Ludlow, father of the Washington correspondent to the Indianapolis Star will become a citizen of our beautiful little village in the near future.

There were no preaching services at the M. E. church Sunday evening on account of Quarterly meeting at Orange.

Bro. Beck of College Corner will address the E. L. at the M. E. church on Wednesday evening. All Epworth League workers are expected to be present.

the week with Mrs. Long's parents in the northern part of the State.

Mrs. Rosecoe Smith and son Newall of Indianapolis are spending a few days with friends here.

Mrs. Sarah Green and Mrs. Mont Stewart spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Laughlin of Glenwood.

Miss Bessie Downey entertained a few friends last Wednesday evening.

Miss Stella Ridner has been threatened with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Sarah Green of Indianapolis is visiting relatives at this place.

Mrs. Amanda Armstrong celebrated her eighty-second birthday last Friday. About sixty-two of her relatives and friends were present. All enjoyed a very pleasant day.

Freemans.

Most of the farmers will finish planting corn this week if the weather permits.

Rufus More purchased the school house that was sold at Freemans for fifty-four dollars and seventy-five cents.

Fred Capp and Joe Pike may as well quit the auction business since John Ryon sold the two school houses at Freemans and Neff's Corner.

Otis Miller sold a horse last week to some parties for $230.

While grubbing on the Marcus Kendall farm, Charlie Barber dug out a Salamander which is rarely ever found here.

It is reported that laurel will be wet after Tuesday of this week.

W. M. Emswiler and wife took dinner with the Reverend Dick Burk of Wesley Chapel Sunday.

Dr. Beal of Clarksburg has purchased a new automobile he is learning to run it more carefully since he ran into a yard fence and tore it down.

Charlie Barber and wife were the guests of John Linville Sunday.

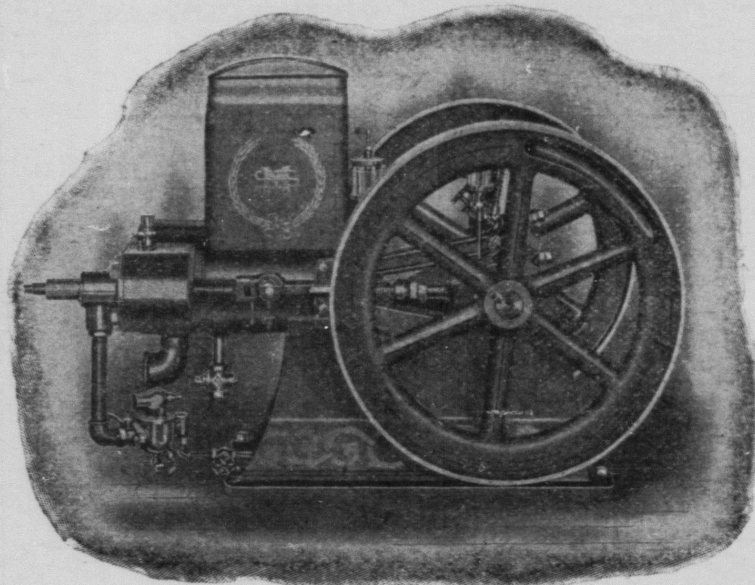

Lon Ryoon and wife of Zionsville attended the funeral of Newt Gant, held at Wesley Chapel Sunday.

Miss Alma Linville is confined to the house with siatic rheumatism in her feet.

O. P. Freeman and wife were calling on Tom Clark and wife south of Clarksburg Sunday evening.

BUICK MODEL 10

June 19th

Was the day Louis Chevrolet got his Buick car all harnessed up. Loco, Knox, Stoddard, Apperson, Fiat and other cars were racing for the big Cobe Cup. Bill Mead timed Chevrolet a mile a minute, they say, with his Buick; all other cars he passed. Cyrus joined the crowd as they called aloud. Chevrolet made the grand-stand gasp. The women hollered, "Chevrolet's won," and the crowd yelled out as one, "I love my horse and wagon, but oh you Buick Car."

Judicial Convention.

The Republican Judicial convention for the Sixteenth Judicial Circuit will be held in the assembly room at the court house in Rushville, Ind., on Wednesday, the 4th day of May, 1910, at 1 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of nominating a Judge and Prosecutor for said circuit. All delegates to this convention from Shelby and Rush counties are earnestly requested to be present.

J. K. BOWERS,
Chairman Shelby Co.
VERNE W. NORRIS,
Chairman Rush Co.

Wooing by wireless will be one of the best ways of love making if the new machine for that purpose, described in Robert W. Chambers, "The Green Mouse," becomes an actuality.

According to the Taggart resolution Marshall is all right for governor—inasmuch as he happens to be governor, but he will not do for president, and the resolution as originally prepared and adopted by committee and convention, proves it.

No press agent could have devised a better plan to keep former President Roosevelt before the public than the African trip and the return home. Most of the men who have been chief executive of the nation have been forced to be content with a scant paragraph occasionally after they had left the White House. Incidentally the publicity is good for a campaign manager.

After Governor Marshall sizes up the results of the Democratic convention, he must realize that he gets precious little out of it, says the Columbus Republican. True, the delegates, or a small majority of them, upheld him in his plan of doing a revolutionary thing; in fact, in doing that which the convention had no right to do—select a candidate for the United States Senate. His net result is just that, besides the customary and perfunctory endorsement tendered to a governor in office. It is questionable whether or not the entire proceeding is a Taggart victory rather than a Marshall victory, all along the line.

President Taft's record as a traveler surpasses that of any other man who has occupied the White House. It was believed the duties of his office would curb his "globe-trotting" proclivities; but they have not seemed to have hampered him to the extent expected. Whatever other records he may make in his term of office there is little doubt that his traveling record will out-distance that of any other President to a greater extent than any of his other records exceed those of his predecessors. For a man of his weight he certainly can get around lively. Temporarily, at least, the doings of Police Sergeant Morley, of Pittsburg, the "double" of the President, will be followed more closely than the Chief Executive's journeys. He is a new feature for the editorial paragrapher.

Governor Marshall is being justly censured for his utterance in his address at the convention regarding graft by men in public office. Taken in connection with other things said before and afterward the implication was plain that he referred to Republican State officers or others in high places.

Had he by a mere sentence explained his meaning the matter might have passed unnoticed, but clearly it was his purpose to make an impression against Republican officials and the latter have good reasons to question his methods. He now weakly admits that he referred to certain findings of the State accountants in the records of trustees. But the public has no way of knowing whether these defaulters are Democrats or Republicans though Marshall's clear intention was to leave the impression that the crimes referred to would rest on prominent Republican shoulders. He will be asked to show cause why he did not play the role of a cheap demagogue in thus trying to cast false aspersions on some who are his equals in all that go to make up manhood and citizenship.

EDITORIALETTES.

There is, of course, some question as to whether the weather man should have it so windy every day in the week.

The ice plant has been out of commission. Now comes the question was it affected by the April freeze?

But even if the Democrats are sincere in saying their "chances are better than ever before," think how little that means.

And then again it is well to take into consideration that the "late unpleasantness" was about the most unharmonious harmony convention ever held.

As we remember it the city administration promised to establish police headquarters. But then maybe they have and are keeping it a secret.

To determine the relation between a man's desire for pleasure and his pocketbook, see whether he borrows his neighbor's paper.

The Marshall "boom" for the presidency became a mere echo when Tom Taggart got through with it.

"Moral welfare of the city" evidently depends on the point of view.

A Rush County Boy a Successful Farmer in South

Not Alone Raises Large Crops, but Tries to Improve Them With Scientific Methods

John Winslow, son of Josiah P. Winslow, a prominent farmer of Walnut Ridge, near Carthage, has developed into one of the foremost agriculturists of the South. His farm is about two and one-half miles from Thorsby in Chilton county, Alabama. It is situated on rolling land that ordinarily would be pronounced poor and unproductive. The average Alabama farmer might starve on it or struggle in and out of the year with a burden of debt and worry hanging about his neck.

Mr. Winslow is a great experimenter. One of his experiments was the intermarriage of two different varieties of cottonplants. As is well known at every joint of the ordinary cotton stalk which gives out a fruit limb there is a second limb that is sterile. This is a waste of plant energy and a drain on the food supply of both the plant and the fruit.

Several years ago John L. Winslow conceived the idea of breeding out this sterile limb and breeding in one that will bear fruit. Long study and careful work has about accomplished this end.

Several years ago Mr. Winslow began experimenting with different varieties of sweet potatoes, trying to develop a prolific variety that will keep from year to year. He has succeeded, and besides he produces sweet potatoes at the rate of 600 bushels to the acre. He also has a large peach orchard of 14,000 trees which brings him a handsome return.

Mr. John Winslow is one of the successful Northern farmers who has made a decided success of farming in the South and Rush county is proud of him.

From the Suburbs

The proprietor of a meat shop in Sioux Falls, S. D., has done something that promises real results in the way of reducing the cost of living. He advertises that he has "no telephones, no deliveries, and no bookkeepers." He invites his prospective customers to call, pick out what they want, pay for it and do their own delivering. He promises to sell them meat at prices that will save them the cost of the service furnished by other dealers. It is a sort of co-operation scheme in which the purchaser earns what he saves—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Warts Attacking Potatoes

The wart disease is a new enemy of the potato crop which is attracting great attention in Europe, and which is liable to be introduced into the United States at any time. It affects the tubers, forming large, rough, unsightly warts, and in severe attacks, completely destroys the crop. Once the fungus gets into the soil, it is impossible to grow a crop of potatoes on the land for several years.

The fungus which causes this disease was discovered in 1896 in potatoes grown in Hungary. It is now prevalent in many places in England and there is great danger that it may spread to Ireland. It is also found in Germany and some other European countries. It has been carried to Newfoundland, but has not yet appeared in the United States.

It is spread by using affected potatoes for seed, and, as this country imports considerable quantities of potatoes every year, there is danger that it may be introduced.

The United States department of agriculture has recently issued a circular, for free distribution, giving a brief account of this disease.

Unfamiliar With Rates

Records of the Postoffice Department show that thousands of persons are un-familiar with postage charges sent to foreign countries, and for this reason an explanatory statement had been issued from the office of the postmaster general in Washington, D. C., showing what rates prevail, says the Indianapolis Star. The statement follows:

Th department is advised that many letters mailed in the United States, addressed for delivery in foreign countries, which are subject to the postal union postage rate, are prepaid only 2 cents, the senders of the letters being under the impression, it is presumed, that the 2-cent domestic postage rate is applicable to said letters.

The only foreign countries to which the 2-cent letter rate applies are Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, the City, of Shanghai, China; Germany (by direct steamer only). England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland. To all other countries the rate is 5 cents for the first ounce or fraction thereof and 3 cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof, which must be fully prepaid or the letters become liable on delivery to a charge equal to double the amount of the deficient postage. For example, a single-rate letter prepaid only 2 cents would be subject on delivery to and additional postage charge of 6 cents.

As charges for postage due on short-paid letters give rise to much complaint, post-masters are directed to caution patrons of their offices respecting the matter.

The department calls special attention to the fact that patrons of the postoffice will save money by taking necessary precautions.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. George C. McClure reached her sixty-ninth birthday last Friday and on Sunday, says the Connersville News, relatives to the number of fifty assembled at the home of Clarence Carr, near Glenwood, in Rush county, to show their friendship for her. She was completely and very pleasantly surprised. A groaning table of good things was spread by the good ladies to which justice was done. Mrs. McClure is well known here and all her friends wish her well. All her remaining brothers and sisters and all her children were present. Before departing for their homes the relatives assembled in the presence of Mrs. McClure and her nephew, George E. Rees, made a fitting speech for the occasion and presented her with a purse of silver as a token from them. Guests were present from Indianapolis, Connersville, Rushville, Milton and Fairview.

TRUXTON KING

CHAPTER XVII.

TRUXTON EXACTS A PROMISE.

TRUXTON KING had been in a resentful frame of mind for nearly forty-eight hours. In the first place, he had not had so much as a single glimpse of the girl he now worshiped with all his heart. In the second place, he had learned, with unpleasant promptness, that Count Vos Engo was the officer in command of the house guard, a position as gravely responsible as it was honorable.

He had, of course, proffered his services to Colonel Quinnox. The colonel, who admired the Americans, gravely informed him that there was no regular duty to which he could be assigned, but that he would expect him to hold himself ready for any emergency. In case of an assault he was to report to Count Vos Engo.

But he was not satisfied. Loraine had not come forward with a word of greeting or relief—in fact, she had not appeared outside the castle doors.

Toward dusk on Monday, long after the arrival of the refugees, he sat in gloomy contemplation of his own unhappiness, darkly glowering upon the unfriendly portals from a distant stone bench.

A brisk guardsman separated himself from the knot of men at the castle doors and crossed the plaza toward him.

Judge the dismay and anger when the soldier, a bit shamefaced himself, briefly announced that Count Vos Engo had issued an order against loitering in close proximity to the castle.

Truxton's cheek burned. He saw in an instant that the order was meant for him and for no one else, he being the only outsider likely to come under the head of "loiterer."

Truxton turned to him with a frank smile. "Please tell Count Vos Engo that I am the last person in the world to disregard discipline at a time like this."

His glance swept the balcony, suddenly becoming fixed on a couple near the third column. Count Vos Engo and Loraine Tullis were standing there together, unmistakably watching his humiliating departure.

The next morning he encountered Vos Engo near the grotto. Catching sight of Vos Engo, he hastened across the avenue and caught up to him.

"Good morning," said Truxton. Vos Engo did not smile as he eyed the tall American. "I haven't had a chance to thank you for coming back for me last Saturday. Allow me to say that it was a very brave thing to do."

"I do not like your words, Mr. King, nor the way in which you glare at me."

"I'm making it easier to tell you the agreeable news, Count Vos Engo; that's all. Take your hand off your sword, please—some other time perhaps, but not in these days, when we need men, not cripples. I'll tell you what I have discovered, and then we'll drop the matter until some other time. Frankly, count, I have made the gratifying discovery that you are a miserable cur."

Count Vos Engo went very white. "As you say, there is another and a better time. We need dogs as well as men in these days."

Truxton strolled off to the stables, picking up Mr. Hobbs on the way.

"Hobbs," he said, "we've got to find John Tullis; that's all there is to it."

"I dare say, sir," said Mr. Hobbs, with sprightly decisiveness. "He's very much needed."

"I'm going to need him before long as my second."

Later on much of Truxton's good humor was restored and his vanity pleased by a polite request from Count Halfont to attend an important council in the "room of wrangles" that evening at 9.

Very boldly he advanced upon the castle a few minutes before the appointed hour.

He came upon Loraine Tullis at the edge of the terrace. She was walking slowly in the soft shadows beyond the row of lights on the lower gallery. He knew her at a glance, this slim girl in spotless white.

"Loraine!" he whispered, reaching her side in two bounds. She put out her hands, and he clasped them. Plainly she was confused. "I've been dying for a glimpse of you. Do you think you've treated me?"

"Don't, Truxton!" she pleaded, suddenly serious. "You must not come here. I saw—well, you know. I was so ashamed; I was so sorry."

He still held her hands. "Yes; they ordered me to move on, as if I were a common loafer," he said, with a soft chuckle. "But where have you kept yourself?"

"I have been ill, Truxton—truly, I have," she said quickly, uneasily.

"You told Vos Engo to ride back and pick me up," he persisted. "He told me in so many words. Now, I want a plain answer, Loraine. Did you promise to reward him if he—well, if he saved me from the mob?"

"No," she said in a low voice.

"What was it, then? I must know, Loraine."

"I am very, oh, so very unhappy, Truxton," she murmured.

"I came near spoiling everything just now," he whispered hoarsely.

"What?"

"I almost kissed you, Loraine. I swear it was hard to keep from it. That would have spoiled everything."

"Yes, it would," she agreed quickly.

"I'm not going to kiss you until you have told me you love Vos Engo."

"I—I don't understand!" she cried, drawing back and looking up into his face with bewildered eyes.

"Because then I'll be sure that you love me."

"Be sensible, Truxton."

"I'll know that you promised to love him if he'd save me. It's as clear as day to me. You did tell him you'd marry him if he got me to a place of safety."

"No, I refused to marry him if he did not save you. Oh, Truxton, I am so miserable! What is to become of all of us? What is to become of John and Bobby and you?"

"I—I think I'll kiss you now, Loraine," he whispered almost tremulously. "God, how I love you, little darling! You must make me a promise."

"Oh, Truxton, don't ask me to say that I'll be your— She stopped, painfully embarrassed.

"That will come later," he said consolingly. "I want you to promise, on your sacred word of honor, that you'll kiss no man until you've kissed me."

"Oh," she murmured, "I—I cannot promise that! I am not sure that I'll ever—ever kiss anybody. What is it you really want me to say?" she asked, looking up with sudden shyness in her starry eyes.

"That you love me—and me only, Loraine," he whispered.

"I will not say it!" she cried, breaking away from him. "But," as she ran to the steps, a delicious tremor in her voice, "I will consider the other thing you ask."

King was ushered into a large, sedately furnished room. A score of men were there before him—sitting or standing in attitudes of attention, listening to the words of General Braze. King's entrance was the signal for an immediate transfer of interest. The general bowed most politely and at once turned to Count Halfont with the remark that he had quite finished his suggestions. The prime minister came forward to greet the momentarily shy American.

"The council has been extolling you, Mr. King," said the prime minister, leading him to a seat near his own.

Truxton blushed. Involuntarily he glanced at Vos Engo. That gentleman started, a curious light leaping into his eyes.

"Here's the situation in a nutshell," went on the prime minister. "We are doomed unless success reaches us from the outside. We seem unable to warn John Tullis, who, if given time, might succeed in collecting a sufficient force of loyal countrymen to harass and eventually overthrow the dictator. I am loath to speak of another alternative that has been discussed at length by the ministers and their friends. The Duke of Perse, from a bed of pain and anguish, has counseled us to take steps in the direction I am about to speak of."

"We can appeal to Russia in this hour of stress, but we will have to make an unpleasant sacrifice. Russia is eager to take over our new issue of railway bonds. Hitherto we have voted against disposing of the bonds in that country, the reason being obvious. St. Petersburg wants a new connecting line with her possessions in Afghanistan. Our line will provide a most direct route—a cutoff, I believe they call it. Last year the Grand Duke Paulus volunteered to provide the money for the construction of the line from Edel-

It's Parisian Sage That Makes That Other Woman's Hair so Bewitchingly Lustrous.

When we say that Parisian Sage is the most wonderful hair tonic, dressing and beautifier known to mankind we are simply stating a fact that you can easily prove.

Get a large 50 cent bottle today; use it for two weeks; if it isn't the most delightful and refreshing tonic you ever used; if it doesn't drive out dandruff, stop falling hair or itching scalp you can have your money back.

Mrs. Francis Koegl, 41 W. Jessamine St., St. Paul, Minn., on November 16, 1909, wrote: "I have used several hair tonics, but there is none that can compare with Parisian Sage."

It cured my falling hair and dandruff, and it does not only cure those troubles, but is the best hair grower in the world."

Parisian Sage is creating a sensation wherever introduced. It is not sticky or greasy. It is in great demand by women of superior taste and refinement who desire fascinating and luxuriant hair that never fails to compel admiration.

weiss north to Balak on condition that Russia be given the right to use the line in connection with her own roads to the orient. You may see the advantage in this to Russia. Mr. King, if I send word to the Grand Duke Paulus, agreeing to his terms, which still remain open to us, signing away a most valuable right in what we had hoped would be our own individual property, we have every reason to believe that he will send armed forces to our relief on the pretext that Russia is defending properties of her own. That is one way in which we may oust Count Marlanx. The other lies in the ability of John Tullis to give battle to him with our own people carrying the guns. Lieutenant Haddan has told us quite lately of a remark you made which he happened to overhear. If I quote him correctly, you said to the Englishman Hobbs that you could get away with it, meaning, as I take it, that you could succeed in reaching John Tullis. May I not implore you to tell us how you would go about it?"

Truxton had turned a brick red. Shame and mortification surged within him. He was cruelly conscious of an undercurrent of irony in the premier's courteous request. For an instant he was sorely crushed. A low laugh from the opposite side of the room sent a shaft to his soul. He looked up. Vos Engo was still smiling. In an instant the American's blood boiled.

"I did say I could get to John Tullis. I'll start tonight."

His words created a profound impression, they came so abruptly.

"Send for Mr. Hobbs, please," said Truxton. "There should be three of us," addressing the men about him.

"One of us is sure to get away."

"There is not a man here—or in the service—who will not gladly accompany you, Mr. King," cried General Braze quickly.

"Count Vos Engo is the man I would choose, if I may be permitted the honor of naming my companion," said Truxton, grinning inwardly with a malicious joy. Vos Engo turned a yellowish green. His eyes bulged.

"I—I am in command of the person of his royal highness," he stammered, suddenly going very red.

"I had forgotten your present occupation," said Truxton quietly. "Pray pardon the embarrassment I may have caused you. After all, I think Hobbs will do. He knows the country like a book."

Mr. Hobbs came. That is to say, he was produced. It is doubtful if Mr. Hobbs ever fully recovered from the malady commonly known as stage fright. He had never been called Mr. Hobbs by a prime minister before, nor had he ever been asked in person by a minister of war if he had a family at home. Afterward Truxton King was obliged to tell him that he had unwaveringly volunteered to accompany him on the perilous trip to the hills. Be sure of it, Mr. Hobbs was not in a mental condition for many hours to even remotely comprehend what had taken place.

But Mr. Hobbs was not the kind to falter once he had given his word. "We'll be off at midnight, Hobbs," said Truxton.

"As you say, Mr. King, just as you say," said Hobbs, with fine indifference.

As Truxton was leaving the castle ten minutes later a brisk, eager faced young attendant hurried up to him.

"I bear a message from his royal highness," said the attendant, detaining him. "Prince Robin has asked for you, sir."

"I'll see him," said King promptly, as if he were granting the audience.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so different, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by Frank E. Wolcott.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

EDITOR CALMLY TOOK A LICKING

Then Paid Deference to Man Who Thrashed Him.

LIKED HIM BETTER FOR IT.

Senator Hale's Wife Was Made the Subject of a Political Newspaper Attack Which Her Son, Colonel Fred Hale, Promptly Resented With a Horsewhip, Visiting the Editor in His Sanctum.

Portland, Me., May 3.—Charles T. Libby, the editor of the Six Town Times and other papers, was horse-whipped by Col. Frederick Hale. The cause of the assault was the publication in one of Libby's papers of the following reference to Colonel Hale's mother, the wife of Senator Hale:

"Mrs. Hale, daughter of the notorious Zach Chandler, and brought up from childhood in an atmosphere of political chicanery has said to friends in Portland that Fred shall go to congress, no matter what it costs. In so doing she laid aside the garments of modesty, which in New England protect womanhood from political asperities, and stands forth in all the hideousness of open corruption. Her vile purpose deprives her of all consideration due to her sex and leaves the community to fight for its honor against this political amazon as best it may; a fight which the machine politicians who accept her money say is hopeless, but which the community at large will not give up until the last gun has been fired."

The assault was witnessed by a newspaper man, who did not have the least idea of Colonel Hale's intention and who went with him to the office of Mr. Libby and introduced him.

Colonel Hale held out a copy of the paper containing the reference to his mother and asked: "Are you responsible for that?"

Mr. Libby looked at it and said: "I am."

Col. Hale drew a whip from under his coat, exclaiming, "Take that, you cur," and rained blows on the editor, who made no attempt to defend himself except to shield his face. Colonel Hale ended his attack with "This is what I do to anyone who insults my mother," and departed.

After Colonel Hale left the office Mr. Libby said: "I like him better than I did before. It was a manly thing to do. A man who would not stand up for his mother don't amount to much."

TERRE HAUTE IS TO BE THE HOST

Indiana Department G. A. R. to Meet There This Month.

VISITORS TO BE TAKEN CARE OF

Preparations Are Being Made to Entertain No Fewer Than 15,000 Visitors, and All Committees Are Actively Planning to Make the Coming Meeting One of the Most Successful in History of Indiana Department.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 3.—The committee preparing for the thirty-first annual encampment of the G. A. R. of the department of Indiana, are confident there will be 15,000 visitors in the city May 25 to 27. There are to be many free amusements, after the manner of a street fair, and this fact is to be advertised in eastern Illinois and western Indiana. A delegation of business men will make trips to towns in both states to arouse interest in the gala week.

Mayor Gerhardt has sent invitations to mayors of all the cities in the state, and many have replied that they will be here. All the Indiana department officers are counted on as a matter of course, but the special event of dedicating a soldiers' monument will also bring some of the national department officers.

The various committees are working to make sure of the comfort and entertainment of visitors. The committee on hotels and lodging has divided the city into forty-five districts, each district in charge of a member of the Woman's Relief Corps, and it will canvass the city to get a list of obtainable rooms. Information booths are to be established and the members of the Spanish War Veterans will have charge of this bureau.

Aside from the free shows in the streets there will be a sham battle with land and naval forces attacking and defending a fort which is to be erected opposite the city on the banks of the Wabash. A committee on schools is arranging a program in which several thousand children will take part.

MAY BRING SUIT

Lorimer Says Enemies Must Prove Charges or Make Amends.

Chicago, May 3.—The special grand jury to investigate State Representative Charles A. White's charges of bribery in the legislature in the election of United States Senator Lorimer was sworn in, and after being told by the court that "There is no more insidious crime, no more dangerous crime, than the bribery of public officials," began their session and listened to an address by State's Attorney Wayman. The prosecutor announced that he would take personal charge of the jury and himself question the witnesses. Every effort to preserve secrecy is being made.

Charles A. White, state representative, who charged that he was bribed with $1,000 to vote for William Lorimer for United States senator went before the jury and told his story of the election of Lorimer. He carried a packet that was believed to contain letters and telegrams that passed between him and Senator Lorimer, Lee O'Neil Browne, minority leader, and Representative R. E. Wilson, who is alleged to have divided the "jackpot."

William H. Lake, a member of the board of trade, was chosen foreman of the jury which will pass on the amazing story of corruption told by White. It is hinted by Mr. Lorimer's friends that in answer to the accusations against him he might begin suit for heavy damages and compel his enemies to prove their charge or make amends. Charles Ward, Mr. Lorimer's secretary, has arrived from Washington with a letter written by White to the senator in which the legislator told of writing a 30,000-word story of his Springfield experiences, for which he was to receive $2.50 a word. Senator Lorimer said he might reveal this letter.

FAITHFUL TO FAMILY

Unique Record of Hoosier Who Married Three Sisters.

Lebanon, Ind., May 3.—Mrs. Nancy Neal, eighty-two years old, whose husband died several years ago, is dead at her home here. Mrs. Neal was the third sister who married Neal. The oldest daughter, to whom Neal was engaged, died before her marriage. He then married the next oldest. She died and he married her widowed sister, and at her death he married the youngest, who had already been married twice.

Killed While Teasing Bull.
Warsaw, Ind., May 3.—William Swalley, aged sixty, an inmate of the Kosciusko county infirmary, is dead. Swalley had been teasing a bull and caused it to become enraged. With lowered head the animal struck the man in the chest and knocked him to the ground, where it continued to gore him. Other inmates hurried to the scene and drove the bull away, but not before Swalley was fatally hurt.

The senate has passed the house bill establishing a bureau of mines.

WILL NOT STOP WEDDING

William H. Leavitt Disclaims Any Such Intention.

Lincoln, Neb., May 3.—Press reports that the statement issued by William H. Leavitt, artist and former husband of Ruth Bryan, to the effect that he would endeavor to prevent her wedding today to Lieutenant Reginald Owen is said to have caused considerable uneasiness among members of the Bryan family, are discredited at Fairview, where preparations for tonight's wedding have been going on for several days. In fact, Mr. Leavitt has distinctly disclaimed any such intention, although still insisting that he must have the children. In a telegram to Colonel Bryan Mr. Leavitt says: "Have no intention of stopping the wedding. Wish Ruth much happiness, but I mean to have possession of my children." The children are said to be in Hanover, Germany.

TAFT COMPLIMENTS SECRETARY OF STATE

Mr. Knox Gets High Praise in His Own Town.

Pittsburg, May 3.—Anyone in this town who had an idea that Secretary of State Philander Chase Knox was not in accord with the administration and might resign, must have been surprised last night if he heard what President Taft had to say about that cabinet officer and the department of state at the Grant's Birthday dinner of the American club. The president praised Mr. Knox without stint and showed why he did so. He pointed with pride to the fact that while we have had under his administration our first tariff law with a maximum and minimum provision, the state department has got us into no tariff wars at all. He thought that the note of Mr. Knox to Zelaya, former dictator of Nicaragua, was a fine bit of diplomatic workmanship, and he scorned those who derided the mixture of diplomacy and trade as "dollar diplomacy."

"In the record of a year's accomplishments under Secretary Knox in our foreign affairs," said he, "I think I may properly point with pride and yet with becoming modesty, for it is his work and not mine. All I can claim is the merit of selecting him for the task."

The president hoped that the negotiations which have been conducted under Mr. Knox and are progressing still will insure peace in the Orient.

RUSHVILLE WILL HAVE BALL TEAM

Organization is Perfected and First Game Will be Played One Week From Sunday.

SOUTH MAIN STREET GROUNDS

A baseball team has been organized which will play here during the summer months on the old baseball diamond in South Main street. The team is composed of the best players in the city and they expect to meet with success during the season. Work has been started on the grounds and it is expected that it will be completed in a few days. Arrangements will be made to handle a large crowd. The new organization will appear in the field something like this: Tompkins, pitcher; Brecheisen, catcher; Mattox, first; Gunning, second; Pea or Ferguson, short stop; Brown, third; Boyd, left field; Frazier, center field; Smith, right field, and Blummer, substitute. Thomas E. Conaway will act as manager. They hope to play their first game one week from Sunday, although they have no definite date yet.

BOARD OF REVIEW TO MEET IN A MONTH

Judge Sparks Appoints Ezekiel Priest and George H. Havens to Occupy Positions.

OFFICIALS ALSO HAVE PLACE

Judge Will Sparks today named Ezekiel Priest and George H. Havens of this city to be members of the Rush county Board of Review.

The Board of Review will begin its annual session the first Monday in June and will remain in session for thirty days. At that time mortgage deduction affidavits will be examined and passed on and all corporations doing business in the county will be assessed. Persons having appeals to make from assessments will have an opportunity to tell their troubles while the board is in session. In addition to the two men appointed, the board will be made up of County Auditor Jesse M. Stone, County Treasurer Alvan Moor, and County Assessor Gowdy of Arlington.

PYTHIAN SISTERS CONVENTION TODAY

Number of Local Lodge Women go to New Castle For Annual District Event.

MRS. MARY BROWN, DELEGATE

Mrs. Mary Brown as delegate from the Ivy Lodge No. 10, Pythian Sisters, and a number of other members of the local order went to New Castle today to attend the annual district convention. A short program is arranged to begin at 1:30 this afternoon. The installation of officers was performed by the Knightstown temple, to which the public was invited. All of the sessions were held in the Knights of Pythias building there. About two hundred women from all over the district were present and enjoyed the program.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Angelus" is the title of the Selig film to be shown at the Palace theater tonight. The story as told by the picture is taken from a great French painting. Two boys on the death of their mother are left in the care of a priest. They grow to manhood and one of them is adopted into a family. He falls in love with the daughter. He later opens a brokerage office in Wall street and is highly successful. His brother engages in the same business and they become partners. The second brother marries the girl with whom the other had been in love and then the rivalry is started. The two brothers dissolve partnership and the fight is on. The further unraveling of the plot is intensely interesting, telling a story that will pull on the heart strings. There are no murders, pistol shots or sensational action. It is recognized as one of the best recent moving pictures for its real dramatic strength. Iva Brown will sing a new song.

The Star Grand offers tonight a Biograph comedy of incidents entitled "Up a Tree." The colloquialism "up a tree" is a metaphor for "in a difficulty," "in a mess," etc. But the victims in this story were up a tree, both metaphorically and actually, but there was one of them made so happy that this one event in a measure might condone the perpetrator for his mischief. Jesse Murphy will sing "Mary, You're a Big Girl Now."

The Vaudelet management offers another Bison feature film tonight, in the subject "The Red Cross Heroine." The subject suggests the nature of the film. The Red Cross society has done much for humanity and their work is extolled, probably no more than is should be. The picture tonight will give an idea of the great work of the organization and incidentally a clever plot is interwoven with the facts that makes it tell a very interesting story. Earl Robertson will sing a new illustrated song.

Eczema—A Germ Disease Can Now be Cured.

The Medical profession is all agreed that ECZEMA is a germ disease, but the thing that has baffled them is to find some remedy that will get to the ground and destroy them.

Zemo, the clean, external treatment has solved this difficulty by drawing the germs to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease. The whole method of treatment and cure by ZEMO is explained in an interesting book on the subject issued by the makers of ZEMO. It tells how to cure yourself at home of Eczema, Blackheads, Pimples, Dandruff, and all diseases of the skin and scalp. Call at F. E. Wolcott's Drug Store for Booklet and learn more about this clean, simple remedy that is now recognized the standard treatment for all diseases of the skin and scalp.

CASE MAY BE OF LOCAL INTEREST

Lorimer - Lundquist Co. Files Suit Against Chicago Automatic Electric Company.

FOR A PATENT INFRINGEMENT

System Here Installed by Defendants in Suit—Will Attempt to Collect Royalty.

Only a few weeks ago the Lorimer-Lundquist company, which owns all of the patents on automatic telephoning, filed suit against the Automatic Electric company of Chicago for $1,500,000, alleging infringement of patents. The plaintiffs stated in their complaint that the Chicago firm had used some of the basic principles in their patent to complete the one which they were selling and installing in cities all over the United States.

The suit is of much local interest in that an automatic system is now in use here and was installed by the Co-Operative Telephone company over one year ago. Just what effect the million and one-half dollar infringement suit will have on the local company is nearly impossible to explain just now. According to local attorneys, the Lorimer-Lundquist company can sue any private telephone company who may be using the system purchased from the Chicago electrical house.

The system now in use here was purchased from the Automatic Electric company of Chicago. When asked about the situation this morning, George Davis, superintendent of the local plant, said that in the purchase contract made with the electrical company, it was stated that the local company would be protected from all litigation. If that is the case it is very probable that the local company will be free from any suits.

The Lorimer-Lundquist company has announced that it will attempt to collect royalty and damages from all of the companies using the system. A number of such systems have been installed over the Middle West, notably in South Bend and Richmond in this State aside from the local system. A more up-to-date automatic system is now being put in Crawfordville, which does away with any push button ring, the receiver doing that part. The suit is a direct blow to the manufacturers of the infringing patents and indirectly a blow to the users of the infringing patents. Although the contract with the local company protects them from all litigation in the courts, it is said that the plaintiffs in the suit might be able to collect royalty in case they could prove in the courts that the system is an infringement of their patent.
